Rod Quantock

Rod Quantock is a pioneer of Australian comedy with more than forty-five years in stand-up, cabaret, theatre, television and radio. He is the only comedian to have performed at the first 30 Melbourne International Comedy Festivals and one of the few – perhaps the only – to be awarded an Order of Australia for his work. It is not hyperbole to say that he is an Australian legend.

Rod is known first and foremost as a very funny man but his reach extends beyond comedy into political and social activism. A passionate environmental activist and advocate for social justice, he lobs Molotov cocktails of mirth at the most serious of subjects. When you see Rod Quantock in action, you can be sure he'll be talking about something of substance; he just may be holding a rubber chicken.

For his trouble, Rod has received numerous awards over his 45 year career, but he's perhaps most proud of his 2015 Order of Australia, his 2004 Sydney Myer Performing Arts Award (putting him in the company of such arts luminaries as Geoffrey Rush, Robyn Nevin, Nick Enright, Lucy Guerin and Paul Grabowsky) and his Honorary Associate Fellowship at the Institute of Sustainability at Melbourne University for his contribution to the environmental debate in this country. His career and contribution are unparalleled.

Rod's performing career began with a low profile 1954 appearance in the West Coburg Baptist Church's Nativity Play. He played the role of the Guiding Star. He's been guiding audiences in the Quantock world-view ever since. The remarkable thing about Rod's long career is that he has remained a contemporary stand-up comedian, evolving and staying at the forefront of the craft.

"A living Melbourne treasure" The Age, Melbourne

"Sophisticated satire, unpretentious, daffy. His easy rambling fills the stage. Clever, simple and acid... a comedian for thinkers."

The Melbourne Times

"A gloriously shambling style, punctuated by sudden gags and proposals of Swiftian excess... He is the archetypal wise fool adrift in a dark & dangerous world." The Australian

"For sheer cheek and inventiveness, the amazing Rod Quantock must take the honours. Bizarre, fresh, theatrically dangerous, unpredictable"

The Guardian, London

"wit, warmth & aplomb... wise, scary, funny." The Age, Melbourne

"We walked away entertained, reflective and finally, amazed.
If you only see one comedy show this year, make it Sunrise Boulevard." Daily Telegraph, Sydney

"Quantock is hilarious, accessible & passionate." Herald Sun

"He's the thinking audience's comic – holding it in absolute fascination. His ability to maintain several through-lines throughout the show holds everything together in near perfection. You must see him."
The Adelaide Advertiser

"...always funny, intelligent and socially responsible"
Herald Sun, Melbourne

"Rod Quantock is still our best political comedian. He may simply be our best comedian." Herald Sun

"This show has huge belly-laughs, but it is often so close to the truth of the mad events in our world at present that we laugh with an ache. Quantock's show is about learning and laughing. Go now" Herald Sun

"Quantock is the master of comedy as social criticism"
The Sunday Age, Melbourne

"Bus is the most chaotic, unplanned fun you can have. Take a friend. Take a camera. Take the risk." The Age, Melbourne

"Rod Quantock is an extremely sophisticated comedian at the height of his craft." The Adelaide Advertiser
